Darker Days
Words and Music by James Pinhorn

Life turns round the wheel in spite of all we feel don't dwell in the dark 'cause it'll take you... away

Look into the light some days it's a fight to find your joy in pain but it'll make you... stay

Darker days will turn the heart will find its burn the head will find its learn and you will grow, you'll grow lean into the wind and breath

With every deepening scar you find out all you are trust in what you feel we are with you... here the footsteps in the sand aren't always where you planned But one foot forward true It'll take you... there

Stronger, taller
the past gets smaller horizon's brighter
when you're a fighter
The music frees you then the true self sees you shining, radiant as the sun you've won

Darker days will turn
the heart will find its burn
the head will find its learn and you will find your shine When you lean into the wind and breath, just breath.
© James Pinhorn 2019